This is to certify that this lot has been tested and will meet the applicable guidelines set forth in both the current Pharmacopeia of the United States and applicable B. Braun Medical Inc. and Customer Specifications. As a manufacturer of medical devices, B. Braun Medical Inc. must meet US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) "Quality System Requirements", European Union Medical Device Directives (MDD), Canadian Medical Device Regulations (CMDR), Japanese Pharmaceutical Affairs Law (JPAL), as well as International Organization for Standardization (ISO) requirements for EN ISO 13485. Although B. Braun specifications are created in conjunction with Customer specifications, the B. Braun specification is considered the presiding document if any discrepancies arise. The signature above indicates that the testing data provided on the certification and the release of this product has been electronically signed by a validated system in compliance with 21 CFR part 11.
